

Certification of RoHS Compliance

June 15, 2006

Dear Valued AME Customers,

To comply the green environment, all of AME integrated circuits are "lead-free" and RoHS compliance as standard since January 1, 2006. The "lead" parts is still available with special production, however, due to low demand, the cost will be 15% higher than those lead-free products.

Thank you for kind attention.

Sincerely yours,

Timothy Kuo
President
